The Echols Case.
Charles Becker, the ex-city garbage collector, last night in Squire Haberfield's court, preferred a charge of assault and battery against Humane Agent Echols. The case grew out of the recent altercation between them, when Echols flashed a gun on Becker in a dispute arising from Echols' inquiring about how long Becker's horse—attached to a passenger wagon—had been in the harness that day. The case furnished some amusement for a number of spectators. Max Srolovitz was Becker's attorney. Squire Haberfield reserved his decision until to-day.

Pleasant Surprise.
Surprise parties do not always surprise, but in this instance the unexpected really happened when Mr. Emil Hockenburg arrived Monday evening at the cozy home he has built for himself and wife at Park View Place. He was thirty years old, and there were exactly thirty guests waiting to congratulate him—one for every year. The surprise was arranged for by his wife and his friends, and was a highly successful affair, and one of great social good humor and enjoyment. Mr. Hockenburg received many pleasant reminders of the occasion in the way of handsome presents. An elegant supper was furnished the guests by Mrs. Hockenburg.

THE LAST HOURS
Of Captain Danford's Life—Only a few Minutes Before
DEATH CAME TO THE SUFFERER
He had Walked Across the Room, and the end Came With the Utmost Suddenness—The Funeral Will Occur This Afternoon at St. Clairsville—G. A. R. Will Have Charge. Fellow Congressmen to Attend.

The last hours of Captain Lorenzo Danford were not different from those of many days prior to the end. He was perfectly rational until the last minute, and in the morning of the day of his death had started his son Thomas to attend to a business and political matter he had settled. The son went reluctantly, as all, even the captain himself, realized that his condition was critical, yet none expected the end at the time it came, though they knew it was not far off. All day his faithful daughter, Carrie Lee, sat in the room with him, as did also his son's wife, Mrs. W. C. Danford. He talked freely, sometimes about their home affairs, sometimes about matters political and then about the changed conditions of business. Rarely did he revert to his own serious condition. He was hopeful of lasting until fall, and so were those about him. Only a few minutes before the end came he left the chair in which he sat and walked across the room to a stand and returned. Comfortably fixed in his chair he resumed the conversation and kept it up until suddenly his head fell back upon the pillow, there was a slight gurgling sound and life was extinct. Not for a moment was he entirely helpless. Once during the day he had said "If there is to be no change in this situation the sooner the end comes the better," and it came just as he hoped it would come if there was no avoiding it. The funeral will take place this afternoon from the residence of his son, W. C. Danford, at 2 o'clock (3 o'clock Wheeling time) and will be in charge of Drummond Post No. 203, G. A. R., of which deceased was a member. Colonel James F. Charlesworth is officer of the day, and James M. Rees post commander. The bar held a meeting yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock and took appropriate action. Judge S. Clair Kelly is the oldest member of the bar and Captain Danford was next in rank. The sergeant-at-arms of the national house of representatives wired St. Clairsville yesterday morning to learn the time of the funeral and in the evening wired his selection of the congressional escort.

Death of John A. Kyle.
Yesterday afternoon, at the family residence, at Echo Point, occurred the death of John A. Kyle, after a lingering illness of consumption of the bowels. Mr. Kyle was in his forty-sixth year, and a few months ago made a trip to Michigan in the hope of recuperating his failing health, which proved unavailing. A wife and two children survive him. The deceased was a bookkeeper for C. A. House, and a member of Nelson lodge No. 5, A. F. & A. M., which has been called to meet Thursday at 2 p. m. to arrange for attending the funeral, which will occur tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, from the deceased's home. Mr. Robert W. Kyle, the plumber, is a brother of the deceased.

A NEW STEEL PLANT.
The West Virginia Steel Company Will Build in the East End this Year—Frank G. Caldwell has Been Elected President of the Company. It can be stated on reliable authority that the West Virginia Steel Company has determined on a location within the city limits of Wheeling, and has purchased about twelve acres of land from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, known as the old Hempfield railroad yards, in the East End, on which the plant will be erected this year. Frank G. Caldwell, of the Caldwell & Peterson Manufacturing Company, has been elected president of the company.

A Peculiar Case.
A peculiar case was tried before Squire Greer yesterday. Andy Fisher was the defendant and was charged with cutting down Mrs. Maggie Burke's clothes line. Mrs. Burke is a tenant of Fisher's and her neighbor wanted to use the line on Monday when Mrs. Burke had arranged to hang out her washing. In the dispute the landlord was appealed to and when Mrs. Burke failed to obey his commands he cut down the line. The squire fined him $1 and costs.

ATTENTION, ELKS!
